What's New in the My Malaysia Solat Time?

- Simplistic and lightweight application - Includes the salat times for Maghrib, Asar, Isyak, Zohor, Subh and Imsak. - Supports only one time zone - Captures the Sun's position in a worldwide map - Supports multiple cities in Malaysia. - Can be minimized for better control - Sound alarm to notify you about the next salat time The Malaysia Sandat Alarm (My Malaysia) is a simple, lightweight application that enables Muslims to get notified about the Islamic prayer times. View all the salat times within a user-friendly GUI The My Malaysia application is very simple and intuitive to use. It consists of a digital clock that tells you what the current time is. Above the clock, a box with the remaining time is displayed. This information can be displayed in one of two ways, either a continuous number (like this) or in a list (like this). Choose a city and have the application list the salat times for Imsak, Subuh, Syuruk, Maghrib and Asar Just click on the city you are in and you will see the Imsak, Subuh, Syuruk, Maghrib and Asar salat times, the time remaining and the current time displayed. The time remaining is displayed in a continuous number format if it is listed, or a list of numbers if it is displayed in a list. The application includes a simple configuration wizard that enables you to choose the city you want to display, as well as whether you want to be notified about the next salat time. View salat times in the countryside This application is also very useful when you are traveling in the countryside, because it enables you to see the prayer times for each city you visit, just click on the location and you will see the salat times for your city in a popup window. Like all applications that are available on our website, the application is delivered inside a zip file containing a folder that is named after the application. This folder can be extracted and then run to display all the application's files. Sounds alarm when the next salat time is approaching This application is very simple and easy to use. Its interface consists of a single window where all the information is displayed. It comprises a digital clock that tells you what the current time is and right below it, a box that contains data concerning the next salat time and the remaining time. A drop down
